3. The Plaintiff seeks damages, compensatory and punitive, affirmative and equitable relief, an award of costs, interest and attorney's fees, and such other and further relief as this Court deems equitable and just.
4. Due to outrageous and intentional acts of police misconduct, the Plaintiff, an innocent civilian was arrested and imprisoned for about six hours by defendant police officers. The plaintiff was unlawfully arrested for purely fictitious crimes for which defendant police officers negligently acted upon, while knowing all along that no crimes had been committed. Moreover, all said police officers present conspired to, and in part did, knowingly offer false testimony either verbally, written or acquiesced against the Plaintiff in order to effectuate an arrest and/or detention. As a result of the Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff was strip searched twice against his will and unlawfully. During the first unlawful search, one of the unidentified officers grabbed Plaintiff's penis and scrotum sack in a perverse manner, to which Plaintiff reacted by grabbing said officer's hand. After being searched, in the street, Plaintiff was placed in handcuffs and told by the officers that he was resisting arrest. The officers proceeded to strip search Plaintiff and search his bag, whereupon nothing illegal was recovered. Thereafter, Plaintiff was transported to the 30th precinct, whereupon he was strip searched for a second time and another search of his bag was performed as well. After being searched inside of the precinct, Plaintiff was placed inside a holding cell until 8:00 pm, during which time several officers taunted Plaintiff and told him in sum and substance, "You're lucky we didn't beat the shit out of you for grabbing my hand". PRELIMINARY FACTS

11. Plaintiff has complied with all conditions precedent to commencing this action.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

12. Plaintiff was falsely detained and arrested by the Defendant police officers on or about November 12, 2009, at approximately 2:00 p.m., in the vicinity of 136th Street and Broadway, New York County and the State of New York. The arrest and detention by said defendants was made without cause or justification. Defendants did negligently, intentionally, willfully and maliciously, wrongfully, unlawfully, and unjustifiably arrest, detain and incarcerate the Plaintiff.

13. Plaintiff was lawfully at said location when he was approached by two unidentified police officers and accused of possessing drugs on his person and/or inside of his backpack.

15. After being searched, Plaintiff was placed in handcuffs and told by the officers that he was resisting arrest. The officers proceeded to strip search Plaintiff and search his bag, whereupon nothing illegal was recovered.
16. Thereafter, Plaintiff was transported to the 30th precinct, whereupon he was strip searched for a second time and another search of his bag was performed as well. After being searched inside of the precinct, Plaintiff was placed inside a holding cell until 8:00 pm, during which time several officers taunted Plaintiff and told him in sum and substance, “You’re lucky we didn’t beat the shit out of you for grabbing my hand”.
17. Plaintiff was released for the precinct at approximately 8:00 pm, without being charged or receiving a summons.
18. The conduct of the defendants in detaining, falsely arresting, assaulting, battering, imprisoning and fabricating evidence, proximately caused Plaintiff serious and permanent emotional injury, pain and suffering, mental anguish, humiliation and embarrassment.

19. All conduct of the Defendants herein was gross, willful, wanton, intentional, purposeful and reckless, negligent and causeless.

MONELL CLAIM

20. At all times material to this complaint, the defendant the City of New York, acting through New York City Police Department, had in effect de facto policies, practices, and customs that were a direct and proximate cause of unconstitutional conduct of defendants. These de facto policies, practices and customs include, inter alia: the failure to properly screen, supervise, discipline, transfer, counsel, and/or otherwise control police officers who are repeatedly accused of such acts; and, the police code of silence wherein police officers regularly cover-up police misconduct and unjustified force and tactics by telling false and incomplete stories, or by failing to report the misconduct and unjustified force and tactics by police officers.
21. While the tolerance for racial profiling arises from the same set of police attitudes as the tolerance of corruption, there is an important difference. Unlike serious corruption, which most cops outwardly tolerate but inwardly deplore and resent, officers seem fairly tolerant - - both outwardly and inwardly - - of racial profiling in certain instances.
22. The Defendant City of New York and New York City Police Department had or should have had, knowledge of these tendencies of its employees, including all of the named Police Officers, Defendants.
23. The Defendant the City of New York and New York City Police Department knew or should have known of the unlawful actions of all of the named Police Officers, defendants through actual and constructive notice of their unlawful activities, including, but not limited to those allegations as set forth herein above.

24. The Defendant the City of New York failed to exercise reasonable care by retaining and not terminating the employment of all said named Police Officers, Defendants or taking other appropriate corrective action. The occurrence complained herein is due to the negligence and recklessness of the Defendant the City of New York.
25. Upon information and belief, the Defendants, the City of New York and New York City Police Department have failed to effectively screen, hire, train, supervise and discipline their Police Officers, including all of the named defendants, Police Officers, for their propensity for misconduct, including lack of truthfulness, and for their failure to protect citizens from unconstitutional conduct of other Police Officers, thereby permitting and allowing the Police Officer Defendants herein to be in a position to unjustifiably, manufacture evidence, arrest, restrain and assault the Plaintiff and to otherwise cause his injury and violate his federal and state constitutional rights.
26. Upon information and belief, all of the Police Officer Defendants have been the subject of prior civilian and departmental complaints of misconduct that gave notice to, or should have given notice to, the City of New York that all of the Police Officer Defendants were likely to engage in conduct that would violate the civil and constitutional rights of the public, such as the conduct complained of by Plaintiff herein.
27. Upon information and belief, the Defendants, the City of New York and the New York City Police Department, maintained an inadequate structure for risk containment and stress management relative to its Police Officers, and failed to create proper means of containing such risk and managing such stress. Inter alia, the structure was deficient at the time selection of police officers and thereafter during their employment, in its ability to evaluate and exchange information within the command structure about the performance of individual Police Officers; in its training of supervisory personnel to effectively and adequately evaluate performance of an officer; and its ability to otherwise put the command structure on notice that an individual or individuals were at significant levels of risk to the public at large or to specific segments thereof. The effect of this was to permit Police Officers to function at levels of significant and substantial risk to the public.

28. As a result of the foregoing conscious policies, practices, customs and/or usages, defendant the City of New York and New York City Police Department, have permitted and allowed the employment and retention of individuals as Police Officers whose individual circumstances place the public or segments thereof at substantial risk of being victims of fraudulent behavior. Such direct or implied policies, practices, customs, and/or usages are a direct and proximate cause of the conduct alleged herein and are otherwise a direct and proximate cause of the injuries to Plaintiff herein.

29. As a direct and proximate result of the City of New York's wrongful policies, practices, customs and/or usages complained of herein, Plaintiff suffered serve physical, mental and emotional injury and pain, mental anguish, suffering, humiliation and embarrassment.

30. Defendant City of New York is additionally liable under the legal principle of Respondent Superior, in that all of the named Police Officer Defendants were on duty and were acting in the course and scope of his duties and employment as a City of

New York Police Officer(s) during the detention, false arrest and assault upon Kevon Brown.
