POLICE COMMISSIONER'S PENALTY DEPARTURE

Re: CCRB Case No. 202104737 regarding Detective Michael Collarini, Tax No. 953767 (DADS No. 2022-27170)

Dear Mr. Darche:

The Police Commissioner has reviewed the facts and circumstances in this matter and determined that the actions of Detective Collarini do not rise to the level of actionable misconduct. At the end of his interview with a potential robbery suspect—to which the suspected individual voluntarily consented—Detective Collarini offered a business card on which he furnished his rank, name, and contact phone number. As evident by the filing of the present CCRB action, neither the suspected individual nor the CCRB had any trouble in correctly identifying Detective Collarini as the subject officer.

The intent of the applicable portion of the Right to Know Act, which mandates that uniformed members of the service furnish individuals with business cards, is to enable easy identification of subject officers. Detective Collarini thus substantially complied with the Right to Know Act when he furnished the suspected individual with a business card that contained the Detective's pertinent identifying information.

Therefore, based on the foregoing, Detective Collarini will receive no disciplinary action
