Plaintiff, by her attorneys, TALKIN, MUCCIGROSSO & ROBERTS, LLP, complaining of the Defendants, THE CITY OF NEW YORK and THE NEW YORK CITY POLICE DEPARTMENT
respectfully alleges the following upon information and belief:

PARTIES

1. Plaintiff, CHERIE WASHINGTON, was and still is a resident of Kings County, in the City and State of New York.
2. The City of New York (or “City”) is a municipal corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York. At all times relevant, Defendant City, acting through New York City Police Department (or” NYPD”), was responsible for the policy, practice, supervision, discipline, retention and conduct of all NYPD personnel. In addition, at all times here relevant, Defendant City was responsible for enforcing the rules of the NYPD, and for ensuring that NYPD personnel obey the laws of the United States and the State of New York.
3. On information and belief, the police officer defendants were, at all times here relevant, police officers of the NYPD, and such were acting in the capacity of agents, servants and employees of the City of New York. On information and belief, Defendant police officer was involved in the illegal arrest of Plaintiff. Defendant police officer is being sued in her individual and official capacity.

4. At all times herein mentioned Defendant NYPD was acting under color of the state of the law, to wit, under color of statutes, ordinances, regulations, policies, customs and usages of the City of New York.

5. The claim arises from an incident that occurred on June 17, 2022, at approximately 11:40 pm, Plaintiff was lawfully exiting a cab in front of her home located at the premises known as 818 Saint Johns Place, in the County of Kings, in the City and State of New York.

6. At approximately 11:40 pm, Plaintiff was approached by an estranged acquaintance who assaulted Plaintiff and forced his way into her home.

7. When the opportunity presented itself, Plaintiff called 911 to report the incident and requested police assistance.

8. Police Officers arrived, interviewed Plaintiff, who explained to them that she was a victim of a crime.

9. Police officer RUTH PEREZ TAX ID #972867 handcuffed and arrested Plaintiff placed her in a squad car and took her to the 77th Precinct.

10. Plaintiff was fingerprinted and taken to central booking.

11. As a result of the foregoing, Plaintiff was caused to suffer a violation of her civil rights, negligent and intentional infliction of emotional distress, anguish, anxiety, fear humiliation, loss of freedom and damage to her reputation and standing.

12. On June 17, 2022 at approximately 11:40 pm, plaintiff was lawfully inside her home when she was wrongfully detained and arrested without provocation or justification, by Police Officer RUTH PEREZ employed by Defendant, THE CITY OF NEW YORK, through its agents, servants and/or employees, did wrongfully detain and imprison the Plaintiff without probable cause, without an arrest warrant and in bad faith.

13. At the aforesaid time and place, Defendants wrongfully arrested and forcibly detained, restrained the Plaintiff.

14. The Plaintiff was subsequently arrested and was charged with Penal Code 120.14 01; Penal Code 120.00 01; Penal Code 265.01 02; Penal Code 120.15; Penal Code 240.26 01.

15. On September 12, 2022 the case was dismissed and sealed.

16. At all times during the events described above, the Defendant police officer was engaged in a joint venture and formed an agreement to violate Plaintiff's rights. The individual officers assisted each other in performing the various actions described and lent their physical presence and support and the authority of said office to each other during said events. They failed to intervene in the obviously illegal actions of their fellow officers against Plaintiff.

17. Defendants willfully and wrongfully accused Plaintiff of having committed a crime in violation of the Penal Laws of the State of New York.

18. As a result of the foregoing, Plaintiff was caused to suffer violation of her civil rights, negligent and intentional infliction of psychological and emotional distress, anguish, anxiety, fear, humiliation, loss of freedom and damage to her reputation and standing with her community.

19. During all the events above described, Defendants acted maliciously and with the intent to injure Plaintiff.

CONDITIONS PRECEDENT

20. That on September 14, 2022 and within the time prescribed by law, a sworn Notice of Claim stating, among other things, the time, when and place where the injuries and damages were sustained, together with the Plaintiff's demands for adjustment thereof were duly served on Plaintiff's behalf on the Comptroller for the City of New York.

21. That more than (30) days have elapsed since said date and the defendants have neglected and refused to make an adjustment thereof.

22. That a Municipal Hearing pursuant to Section 50-h of the General Municipal was held on December 5, 2022.

23. That this action is being commenced within one year and ninety days after actual cause of action, or within the time allowed by law.

DAMAGES

24. As a direct and proximate result of the acts of the Defendants, Plaintiff suffered the following injuries and damages:

- a. Violation of her rights pursuant to the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution;
- b. Loss of liberty;
- c. Psychological and emotional trauma and suffering, including fear, embarrassment, humiliation, emotional distress, frustration, extreme inconvenience, and anxiety.

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
(U.S.C. §1983)

25. The above paragraphs are hereby incorporated by reference.

26. Defendants deprived the Plaintiff of her civil and constitutional and statutory rights under color of law and have conspired to deprive her of such rights and are liable to Plaintiff under 42 U.S.C. §1983.

27. Defendants under the color of state law, subjected the Plaintiff to the foregoing acts and omissions without due process of law and in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1983, thereby depriving Plaintiff of her rights, privileges and immunities secured by the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution, including, without limitation, deprivation of the following constitutional rights:

- a. Freedom from unreasonable searches and seizures of her person;
- b. Freedom from arrest without probable cause;
- c. Freedom from false imprisonment, meaning wrongful detention without good faith, reasonable suspicion or legal justification, and of which Plaintiff was aware and did not consent;
- d. Freedom from deprivation of liberty without due process of law;

e. Freedom from excessive force.

28. Plaintiff has been damaged as a result of Defendants wrongful acts.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
(FAILURE TO INTERVENE)

29. The above paragraphs are incorporated by reference.

30. Members of the NYPD have an affirmative duty to assess the constitutionality of interactions between their fellow members of service and civilians and to intervene where they observe another member of the Police Department or other law enforcement agency falsely arresting a civilian.

31. Defendant Police Officers, JANE and JOHN DOES 1-6, violated Plaintiff's rights by failing to intervene in the unlawful arrest of Plaintiff, which resulted in the injuries and damages set forth.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
(MUNICIPAL AND SUPERVISORY LIABILITY- MONELL)

32. The above paragraphs are incorporated by reference.

33. The City is liable for damages suffered by Plaintiff as a result of the conduct of their employees, agents, and servants, in that, after learning of their employees' violation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights, they failed to remedy the wrong, they have created a policy or custom under which unconstitutional practices occurred and allowed such policies or customs to continue, and they have been grossly negligent in managing subordinates who caused the unlawful condition or event. The City has been alerted to intolerably frequent illegal arrests by its officers, but have nevertheless exhibited deliberate indifferences to such illegal arrest, that deliberate indifference caused a violation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights in this case.

34. The City's continuing failure to deter police misconduct has led to ever increasing numbers of lawsuits for repeat routine misconduct by the same officers, same units and same precincts. In 2012, New York City paid out over $131 million for the fiscal year, compared to 2011, when it paid out more than $166 million, and 2010, when it paid $128 million.¹ In the first ten years of the 21st century, the City of New York has paid nearly a billion dollars on lawsuits brought against the NYPD.² More than 40% of those settlements in 2011 stem from excessive force and false arrest. The widely held assumption is that civil rights lawsuits deter police misconduct. “The purpose of § 1983 is to deter state actors from using the badge of their authority to deprive individuals of their federally guaranteed rights and to provide relief to victims if such deterrence fails. Wyatt v. Cole, 504 U.S. 158, 161, (1992) citing Carey v. Piphus, 435 U.S. 247, 254-257, (1978). “As far as we know, civil liability is an effective deterrent [to civil rights violations], as we have assumed it is in other contexts.” See Hudson v. Michigan 547 U.S. 586, 598 (2006) citing Correctional Services Corp. v. Malesko, 534 U.S. 61, 70 (2001) and Nix v. Williams, 467 U.S. 431, 446, (1984). “It is almost axiomatic that the threat of damages has a deterrent effect (citation omitted) surely particularly so when the individual official faces personal financial liability.” Carlson v. Green, 446 U.S. 14, 21, (1980), citing Imbler v. Pachtman, 424 U.S. 409, 442, and footnote 6 (1976).

35. However, the City of New York has insulated NYPD officers from accountability for its civil rights lawsuits indemnifying officers who violate the constitutional rights of citizens, and, as a result, is preventing civil rights lawsuits from having any deterrent value to the City, the NYPD or its officers. Civil rights lawsuits against police officers have no impact on the officer’s careers, regardless of the expense to the City of the officer’s lawsuit liability, even after multiple lawsuits. In 1999, former Comptroller Alan Hevesi reported that there was a “total disconnect” between the settlements of even substantial civil claims and police department action against officers. This “total disconnect” “between officers” liability and NYPD discipline, results in a system where the City pays vast sums to settle false arrests, but the NYPD does nothing to investigate nor address the underlying causes of such false arrests or officers who have incurred large sums of civil rights liability.

The City Council, Government Operations Committee, despite being alerted at a City Council hearing on December 12, 2009, and on other occasions, to the obvious problem of officers and precincts with a disproportionate responsibility for civil rights lawsuit liability, has failed to take action to hold officers or precincts accountable. It has likewise failed to hold an investigative hearing into what extent specific officers, units and precincts are disproportionately responsible for New York City civil rights lawsuits.

36. The City is liable for damages suffered by Plaintiffs in that, after learning of their employees' violation of Plaintiffs' constitutional rights, they failed to remedy the wrong; they have created a policy or custom under which unconstitutional practices occurred and allowed such policies or customs to continue, and they have been grossly negligent in managing subordinates who caused the unlawful condition or event.

37. The aforesaid event underlying Plaintiff's factual allegations was not an isolated incident. The City has been aware for some time, from lawsuits, notices of claims, complaints filed with the Civilian Complaint Review Board, and judicial rulings suppressing evidence and finding officers incredible as a matter of law, that a disturbing number of their police officers unlawfully search and seize citizens, bring charges against citizens with no legal basis, perjure themselves in charging instruments and testimony, and fail to intervene in and report the obviously illegal actions of their fellow officers. Nevertheless, the City has allowed policies and practices that allow the aforementioned to persist.

38. The City has been alerted to the regular use of false arrests by its officers, through lawsuits, civilian complaints, notices of claim, City Council hearings, newspaper reports, and cases resulting in declined prosecutions and dismissals, but has nevertheless exhibited deliberate indifference to such false arrests; that deliberate indifference caused the violation of Plaintiff's constitutional rights in this case.

39. Nevertheless, the City has repeatedly resisted attempts to catalog even basic information gleaned from civil rights lawsuits that could improve training, leadership, supervision, and discipline in the NYPD. The City's deliberate indifference towards the contents of civil rights litigation, towards individual officers repeatedly named in lawsuits, towards incidents repeatedly occurring in the same precinct, towards patterns of misconduct that arise in civil rights litigation has caused the constitutional violations against Plaintiff.

40. Police officers have repeatedly told New York City news investigations that their supervisors pressure them into reaching "performance goals" or quotas, resulting in the violation of innocent New Yorker's civil rights.³ Former Deputy Commissioner Paul J. Browne has repeatedly admitted that NYPD commanders are permitted to set "productivity goals."⁴ NYPD Officer Adil Polanco has asserted that his command, the 41st precinct in the Bronx, regularly requires officers to make at least "one arrest and twenty summonses" per month.⁵ The New York City Office of Collective Bargaining concluded that officers in Brooklyn's 75th Precinct were required to issue four parking tickets, three moving violation citations, three "quality-of-life" summonses, make one arrest and two stop-and-frisks each month.⁶ Arbitrator Bonnie Siber Weinstock ruled that the NYPD maintained an illegal quota system, and she ordered the city to cease and desist from the practice.⁷

41. Kieran Creighton, commander of the NYPD Housing Police Service Area 8 in the North Bronx, was investigated in 2007 for ordering officers to make a certain number of arrests each month.

³ See WABC's Jim Hoffer's three installments (March 3, May 23 and May 25, 2010) on NYPD quotas available at <http://abclocal.go.com/wabc/story?section=news/investigators&id=7461355> last visited on June 25, 2013.

“The incident allegedly occurred in the spring when Creighton ordered at least eight members of an undercover anti-crime team to a meeting in Pelham Bay Park to berate them about an alleged lack of arrest, sources said.

“You can’t make the nine collars a month, then we’ll have to go our separate ways,” Creighton told the officers, according to an internal complaint by The News.

Anything less than nine arrests would be a ‘personal slap in the face,’ Creighton allegedly said. Creighton then told cops to ‘finagle’ the times of arrests so any overtime was paid for by a federal funded anti-drug program, the complaint alleges.

Unbeknownst to Creighton, one officer had his NYPD radio switched on – so that captain’s 10 to 12-minute speech was broadcast to Bronx precincts in Morrisania and Shuylerville and taped by a 911 dispatcher.”⁸

The Civilian Complaint Review Board (“the CCRB”), a City police oversight agency, often finds complainants lack credibility based in part on the fact that such complainants have also brought lawsuits to remedy the wrongs they have experienced, a practice that often results in not substantiating the most serious charges brought to the CCRB. In addition, the CCRB virtually never initiates their own findings of false statements against officers who have made false statements to the CCRB in their own defense, nor do they initiate findings that officers have failed to report their fellow officers’ misconduct; thus, officers have no real incentive to come forward, or to testify truthfully at the CCRB. The CCRB has no enforcement mechanisms once making a finding against an officer; it can only make recommendations to the NYPD, once finding misconduct by an officer.

42. The NYPD, once receiving a substantiated complaint by the CCRB, fails to adequately discipline officers for misconduct. In 2002, the percentage of officers who were the subject of substantiated CCRB complaints who received no discipline was 47%; in 2007, it was 75%.⁹ The NYPD Department Advocate, which is endowed with the responsibility of following up on substantiated CCRB charges, is understaffed and under-utilized. Furthermore, in the extraordinarily rare event meritorious complaints of false arrests to be dismissed or disregarded that there is no credible, effective oversight of police department employees, despite an apparently elaborate set of oversights mechanisms.

43. Further, the City has no procedure to notify individual officers or their supervisors of unfavorable judicial review of their conduct or to calculate the total liability of an individual officer or of a precinct. Without this notification, improper search and seizures practices and incredible testimony go uncorrected, problematic supervision or leadership at the precinct goes ignored, and repeated misconduct by individual officers goes unaccounted for. Even occasional judicial findings that officers have testified incredibly are not reported routinely to the police department or any oversight agencies.

44. All the aforementioned has created a climate where police officers and detectives lie to prosecutors and in police paperwork and charging instruments, and testify falsely, with no fear of reprisal. “Informal inquiry by the court and among the judges of this court, as well as knowledge of cases in the other federal and state courts, has revealed anecdotal evidence of repeated, widespread falsification by arresting police officers of the New York City Police Department. Despite numerous inquiries by commissions and string reported efforts by the present administration-through- selection of candidates for the police force stressing academic and other qualifications, serious training to avoid constitutional violations, and strong disciplinary action within the department-there is some evidence of an attitude among officers that is sufficiently widespread to constitute a custom or policy by the city approving illegal conduct of the kind now charged.” See Colon v. City of New York, et al, 2009 WL 4263362 (E.D.N.Y.) (Weinstein, J.).

45. The City is aware that all of the aforementioned has resulted in violations of citizen’s constitutional rights. Despite such notice, the City has failed to take corrective action. This failure and these policies caused officers in the present case to violate Plaintiff’s civil rights, without fear of reprisal.
46. Plaintiff has been damaged as a result of the deliberate indifference of the Defendant City.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
(RESPONDEANT SUPERIOR)

47. The above paragraphs are incorporated by reference.
48. Defendants caused a criminal proceeding to be initiated against Plaintiff.
49. The criminal proceedings terminated in Plaintiff’s favor.
50. Defendants lacked probable cause to initiate a criminal proceeding.
51. Defendants acted willfully, recklessly and with malice towards Plaintiff.
52. As a result of Defendants conduct, Plaintiff was damaged.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION MALICIOUS PROSECUTION
(against all defendants)

53. The above paragraphs are here incorporated by reference.
54. Defendants caused a criminal proceeding to be initiated against Plaintiff
55. The criminal proceeding terminated in Plaintiff’s favor.
56. Defendants lacked probable cause to initiate the criminal proceeding.
57. Defendants acted willfully, recklessly and with malice toward Plaintiff.
58. As a result of Defendants’ tortious conduct in the course of their employment and in furtherance of the business of Defendant City of New York, Plaintiff was damaged.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment against the Defendants jointly and severally, as follows:

- a. In favor of Plaintiff an amount to be determined by a jury for each of the Plaintiff's causes of action;
- b. Awarding Plaintiff punitive damages in an amount to be determined by a jury;
- c. Awarding Plaintiff reasonable attorney's fees, costs and disbursements of this action;
- and
- d. Granting such other relief as this Court deems just and proper.
