POLICE COMMISSIONER'S PENALTY DEPARTMENTURE

Re: CCRB Case No. 202405141 (Incident Date: May 8, 2024) regarding Police Officer Casey Ayrovainen, Tax No. 972332 (PODS Case No. C-035213)

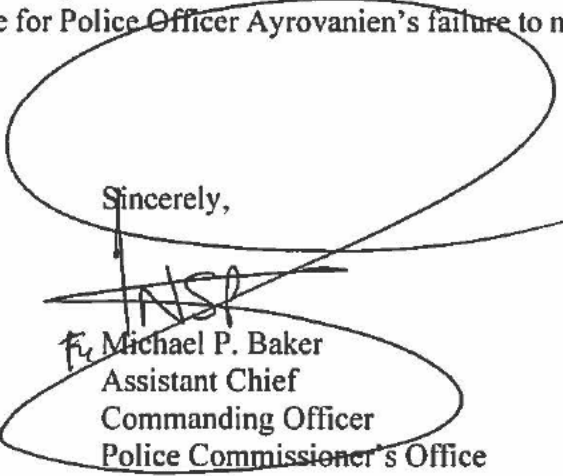

Dear Mr. Darche:

The Police Commissioner has reviewed the recommendation of the Civilian Complaint Review Board (CCRB) regarding the disciplinary matter involving Police Officer Casey Ayrovainen and has determined that his actions do not warrant disciplinary action.

In this matter, Police Officer Ayrovainen is charged with damaging the property of the complainant. After review of the video evidence, it is clear Police Officer Ayrovainen accidentally damaged the complainant's vehicle. While the Police Commissioner acknowledges CCRB's authority to investigate damaged property under the Abuse of Authority doctrine, the Police Commissioner does not find that accidental damage to property falls under that doctrine. Thus, accidental damage to property is to remain under the purview of the NYPD for investigation purposes. It should be noted that whenever there is an allegation of damaged property involving City-caused damage, the owner of such damaged property may seek reimbursement from the City.

Separate and apart, due to the alleged damage caused by Police Officer Ayrovainen's actions, he should have made the proper notifications. Therefore, the Police Commissioner intends to direct the issuance of a Schedule "A" Command Discipline for Police Officer Ayrovainen's failure to make proper notifications.

Sincerely,

For Michael P. Baker
Assistant Chief
Commanding Officer
Police Commissioner's Office
