20. Plaintiff's girlfriend, who had been depressed, attempted to commit suicide by taking too many prescription pills.

21. Plaintiff's girlfriend then called 911 to report her attempted suicide, and requested an ambulance come to her home located at 1253 Commonwealth Avenue, Bronx, New York.

22. Several minutes after plaintiff's girlfriend called 911, several defendant NYPD officers arrived at plaintiff's apartment.

23. Upon arrival at 1253 Commonwealth Avenue, Bronx, New York, EMS and the defendant police officers spoke to plaintiff's girlfriend, and began providing her medical treatment.

24. Once plaintiff knew her girlfriend was safe, and that she was receiving the necessary medical treatment, plaintiff attempted to leave the apartment.

25. At that point, without provocation or legal justification, the defendant police officers grabbed plaintiff and put her in an illegal choke hold causing plaintiff to suffer serious physical injuries.

26. Notably, at no point in time did plaintiff resist the defendant police officers in any way.

27. As a result of the defendant police officers illegal choke hold, plaintiff lost consciousness for several minutes.

28. The defendant police officers then unlawfully handcuffed and arrested plaintiff without probable cause or legal justification or any objective reason to believe that the plaintiff was a danger to herself or others.

29. The defendant police officers then picked plaintiff up off the floor and purposely dropped her back onto the floor, causing plaintiff to suffer further physical injuries.

30. Thereafter, defendants had plaintiff transported to St. Barnabas Hospital against her will.

31. The individually named defendants knowingly and wrongfully accused plaintiff of being emotionally disturbed.

32. Defendants had no objective reason to believe plaintiff was emotionally disturbed.

36. Eventually, after approximately 3 hours in police custody, the defendant police officers removed plaintiff's handcuffs and released her from custody at the hospital.

37. At no time did plaintiff commit a crime, nor did the defendant police officers have reason to believe she committed a crime.

38. Plaintiff was placed under arrest and unlawfully detained and confined without legal justification or probable cause.

39. Some of the defendants observed the violation of plaintiff's rights under the Constitution of the United States and New York State Law and did nothing to prevent the unlawful detention, unlawful seizure, unlawful confinement, false arrest, false imprisonment, and use of excessive force against plaintiff.
