PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. This is an action for money damages brought pursuant to the Civil Rights Act of 1871, 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983 and 1988 for the defendants' commissions of acts under color of law in violation of plaintiffs' rights under the First, Fourth, Eighth, and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

2. Plaintiffs' complaints stem from incident(s) that began on or about April 7, 2017. During the incident(s), plaintiff was subjected to a false arrest and imprisonment, excessive force, fabrication of evidence, malicious prosecution, retaliation for free speech, an unlawful search and seizure, intentional and negligent infliction of emotional distress, harassment, unconstitutional conditions of confinement, and to a deprivation of his constitutional, civil, and common law rights.

3. During the incident(s), Mr. Blackman was held as a pre-trial detainee at Kings County Central Booking before he was released on his own recognizance.

4. Defendants' actions were contrary to law, contrary to sound professional police practice, and contrary to the norms of a civilized society. This complaint, arising from these outrageous and unlawful acts, seeks compensatory and punitive damages, costs, disbursements, and attorneys' fees pursuant to applicable federal civil rights law.

20. The defendants are sued individually and in their individual capacities.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

21. On or about April 7, 2017 at approximately 9:15 p.m., at and in the vicinity of 4516 Avenue D, Brooklyn, New York, defendants committed the following unlawful acts against the Plaintiff:

22. On or about April 7, 2017 at approximately 9:15 p.m., at and in the vicinity of 4516 Avenue D, Brooklyn, New York, Plaintiff was present at the Frank J. Barone Funeral Home for a funeral along with several other individuals.

23. On or about April 7, 2017, at approximately 9:15 p.m., without any probable cause to do so, the defendant officers falsely arrested and imprisoned the plaintiff. During the arrest of the plaintiff, he was handcuffed about the wrists with excessively tight handcuffs, he was not free to disregard any officers' communication, and he was not free to leave.

24. During the execution of the search warrant, the defendants SCHULMAN, JEANPIERRE, and/or DOES #1-10, exerted excessive force against plaintiff by subjecting him to excessively tight handcuffs and striking him about the hand and body with a stick-like object.

25. The plaintiff complained to the defendant police officers that the handcuffs were excessively tight and that they needed them to be loosened. The defendant police officers ignored plaintiff's pleas to loosen the cuffs.

26. Each of the defendant officers was present during, and participated in, plaintiffs' arrest and excessive force.

27. While plaintiff was in handcuffs, the defendant officers searched him. No contraband was recovered during this search.

28. Plaintiff was eventually transported to an NYPD precinct in Brooklyn, New York and booked on charges of inciting to riot (Penal Law § 240.08) and three counts of disorderly conduct (Penal Law § 240.20 (1), (3), and (6)).

29. Plaintiff was eventually brought by police officers to Central Booking at 120 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, New York.

30. A criminal complaint was filed against plaintiff.

31. After approximately 24 hours, plaintiff was arraigned on the criminal complaint. Plaintiff was released on his own recognizance.

32. Upon information and belief, while Mr. Blackman was awaiting arraignment, the officers who arrested him, acting in concert, and pursuant to a conspiracy, falsely and maliciously told the Kings County District Attorney's Office that Mr. Blackman had committed various crimes, and based on the officers' false allegations, the Kings County District Attorney's Office prosecuted Mr. Blackman in Court under Criminal Docket #2017KN020465.

33. Thereafter, all charges were dismissed and sealed against Mr. Blackman on July 14, 2017.

34. Mr. Blackman was required to appear in Court for several appearances to defend against the false allegations.

35. The above-stated malicious prosecution was initiated without probable cause to believe that the prosecution would be successful and without regard to Mr. Blackman's innocence.

36. The above-stated malicious prosecution was initiated with malice because it was not based upon probable cause.

37. The above-stated malicious prosecution terminated in Mr. Blackman's favor on July 14, 2017 when the charges were dismissed and sealed against him.

38. The above-stated malicious prosecution caused a significant post-arraignment liberty restraint on Mr. Blackman, namely the several court appearances he was required to make in order to defend against the false allegations.

39. The NYPD has formal policies, contained in its Patrol Guide, by which it authorizes the conduct of dispersing crowds, the arrest and prosecution of those involved in peaceful protest, and the use of force against detainees.

40. This notwithstanding, on information and belief, the NYPD has, and had at the time of the incident giving rise to this Complaint, a de facto policy and practice for conduct of dispersing crowds, the arrest and prosecution of those involved in peaceful protest, and the use of force against detainees, other than those specified in the Patrol Guide or NYPD directives in order to meet productivity goals and quotas.

41. Upon information and belief, the arrest of the plaintiffs was motivated wholly or in part by the individual defendants' need to meet quantitative enforcement "productivity goals" promulgated by the defendant City of New York.

42. Upon information and belief, the arrest of the plaintiffs was motivated wholly or in part by the individual defendants' need to meet quantitative enforcement "productivity goals" promulgated by policymakers and/or supervisory staff of defendant City of New York's police department.

43. The existence of the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy may be inferred as a finding of fact when, on June 24, 2010, the court in Floyd v. City of New York, United States District Court, Southern District of New York, 08 CV 1034, ordered the release of documentation in the possession of the defendant New York City Police Department's Internal Affairs Bureau, which investigates claims of serious misconduct and corruption of members of the NYPD. The court held that the plaintiff in that case, in order to prove the existence of unconstitutional arrest quotas, had overcome the law enforcement privilege due to the strong public interest in uncovering the civil rights violations alleged in the Complaint, and by demonstrating a compelling need to review such documentation.

44. The existence of the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy was confirmed as a finding of fact when, on February 18, 2011, the jury in Bryant v. City of New York, Kings County Supreme Court Docket #022011/2007, found that the plaintiff in that case's arrest had resulted from a policy "regarding the number of arrests officers were to make that violated plaintiff's constitutional rights and contributed to her arrest" imposed by defendant City of New York.

45. The existence of the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy may additionally be inferred from repeated occurrences of similar wrongful conduct, as documented in lawsuits including but not limited to the following civil rights actions filed against the City of New York:

- a. Alvin Williams v. The City of New York, et al., United States District Court, Southern District of New York, 05-cv-4013.
- b. Corey Williams v. The City of New York, et al., United States District Court, Eastern District of New York, 07-cv-5362.
- c. Joseph Malachi LaDoucier v. The City of New York, et al., United States District Court, Southern District of New York, 10-cv-5089.

46. The existence of the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy may further be inferred from the admission by Deputy Commissioner Paul J. Browne, as reported by the media on November 8, 2010, that commanders are permitted to set “productivity goals.”¹

47. The existence of the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy may further be inferred from the posting of lists of quantitative targets for various forms of summonses at the 77th Precinct in Brooklyn. See fn1.

48. The existence of the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy may further be inferred from the tape recordings acquired by WABC-TV/DT, including, among other admissions, a 41st precinct sergeant explaining that each of his officers is held to a twenty summons per month and one arrest per month enforcement quota, as reported by the media on March 3, 2010.²

49. The existence of the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy may further be inferred from the tape recordings acquired by the Village Voice, including, among other admissions, an 81st precinct sergeant telling his officers to make “special” arrests as directed by their superiors even if they must void the arrest at the end of their shifts, as reported by the media on May 11, 2010.³

62. Defendants are liable to plaintiff for malicious prosecution because, pursuant to a conspiracy and acting with malice, the defendants initiated a malicious prosecution against plaintiff by knowingly, intentionally, and maliciously providing false statements to prosecutors and/or the criminal court(s), which alleged plaintiff had committed various crimes; and based upon these false statements, prosecutors prosecuted plaintiff until the case against plaintiff was dismissed in their entirety.

63. The individual defendants lacked probable cause to believe the above-stated malicious prosecution(s) could succeed.

64. The individual defendants acted to cover up their illegal and unconstitutional conduct by initiating the above-stated malicious prosecution(s).

65. The above-stated malicious prosecution(s) caused a sufficient post-arraignment liberty restraint on plaintiff.

The defendant police officers and defendant City of New York, collectively and individually, while acting under color of state law, engaged in Constitutionally-violative conduct that constituted a custom, usage, practice, procedure or rule of the respective municipality/authority, which is forbidden by the Constitution of the United States.

72. As a result of the foregoing, plaintiff's liberty was restricted for an extended period of time, he was arrested, and he was humiliated, without probable cause.

- a. Wrongfully arresting innocent persons in order to meet quantitative “productivity goals” (i.e. arrest quotas).

80. The particular arrest of the plaintiff is believed to have been motivated in whole or in part by the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy because they were undertaken in the absence of probable cause to arrest.

81. The particular arrest of the plaintiff is believed to have been motivated in whole or in part by the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy because it was undertaken in a manner which indicated that the individual defendant officers who participated in the plaintiff’s arrest made the determination to search and arrest plaintiff before determining why the plaintiff should be searched and arrested.

82. The particular arrest of the plaintiff is believed to have been motivated in whole or in part by the aforesaid unconstitutional arrest quota custom and/or policy because the plaintiff was arrested despite the fact that probable cause to search or arrest an individual is not met by obtaining a search warrant by submitting materially false information to the “neutral magistrate” and misleading and/or withholding materially relevant information about the location of the alleged narcotics’ recovery.

EIGHTH CLAIM

(EQUAL PROTECTION UNDER 42 U.S.C. §§ 1981 AND 1983)

89. Plaintiff repeats and realleges all the foregoing paragraphs as if the same were fully set forth at length herein.

90. At all times described herein, the plaintiff was possessed of the right to equal protection under the laws, as guaranteed under the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution.

91. Defendant police officers arrested and incarcerated plaintiff in the absence of any evidence of criminal wrongdoing, notwithstanding their knowledge that said arrest and incarceration would jeopardize plaintiff's liberty, well-being, safety, and constitutional rights.

92. The acts complained of were carried out by the aforementioned individual defendant police officers in their capacities as police officers and officials, with all the actual and/or apparent authority attendant thereto.

93. Plaintiff was falsely accused of crimes and violations and was taken into police custody and detained against plaintiff's will.

94. Following his arrest, plaintiff was charged with crimes and violations.

95. The above-described charges were a pretext intended to justify the plaintiff's illegal arrest.

96. The actions of the defendant police officers heretofore described, constituted unlawful detention, imprisonment, and malicious prosecution and were designed to and did cause pain and suffering both in violation of the plaintiff's Constitutional rights as guaranteed under 42 U.S.C. §§ 1981 and 1983 and the United States Constitution, Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments and the Constitution of the State of New York and in direct retaliation for the plaintiff's exercise of his civil and constitutional rights of free speech, free expression and expressive association as guaranteed by the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution as well as the Constitution of the State of New York.

97. As discussed by the court in Brown v. City of Oneonta, 221 F.3d 329 (1999), the existence of an equal protection violation may be confirmed by a finding that a similarly situated group of non-minority individuals is treated differently. That is, the plaintiff must allege that a government actor intentionally discriminated against them on the basis of race.

98. On March 1, 2010, the New York Times published an Op-Ed piece entitled "Watching Certain People," wherein the author cited to New York City Police Department Statistics showing that of the 2,798,461 stops made by police officers during the years 2004 through 2009, African-American men accounted for 1,444,559 of those stops, and Hispanics accounted for 843,817 of those stops, or 51.6 percent and 30.1 percent respectively. The vast majority of those stopped, 88.2 percent, were not guilty of any crime.⁴

99. On February 22, 2011, the New York Daily News published an article citing New York Police Department stops for the year 2010, which numbered 601,055. This figure marked a 4.3 percent increase from the year 2009, and African-American and Latino men account4d for approximately 85 percent of all stops.⁵

100. The particular arrest of the plaintiff is believed to have been motivated in whole or in part by a custom or practice of racism of victimization, not of hate, whereby minority individuals are charged with crimes and violations such as trespassing, resisting arrest, disorderly conduct, obstruction of governmental administration, and narcotics-related offenses in the absence of probable cause to arrest, due to perceived ease of prosecution of such minority individuals.

101. The defendant police officers, through their actions, carried out a discriminatory application of such laws, driven by a discriminatory motivation of what might otherwise be facially neutral statutes due to a perceived ease of prosecution.

102. As a result of the aforementioned conduct, the defendants have violated plaintiff's constitutional rights to equal protection, and the plaintiff is entitled to seek redress under 42 U.S.C. §§ 1981 and 1983, and are further entitled to injunctive relief to the extent necessary to prevent further disparate treatment and retaliation.

103. As a result of the above constitutionally impermissible conduct, plaintiff was caused to suffer a violation of civil rights, emotional distress, anguish, anxiety, fear, humiliation, loss of freedom, legal expenses and damage to their reputation and standing in his community.

104. As a result of the defendants' impermissible conduct, plaintiff demands judgment against defendants in a sum of money to be determined at trial.

105. All of the foregoing acts by defendants deprived plaintiff of federally protected rights, including but not limited to, the right:

- a. Not to be deprived of liberty without due process of law;
- b. To be free from seizure and arrest not based upon probable cause;
- c. To be free from unwarranted and malicious criminal prosecution;
- d. To be free from malicious abuse of process;

- e. To receive equal protection under the law.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff demands a jury trial and the following relief jointly and severally against the defendants:

- a. Compensatory damages in an amount to be determined by a jury;
- b. Punitive damages in an amount to be determined by a jury;
- c. Costs, disbursements, and attorney's fees, pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1988;
and
- d. Such other and further relief as this Court may deem just and proper, including injunctive and declaratory relief.
