FALJEAN (Tax # 930122), were acting under color of statutes, ordinances, regulations, policies, customs, and usages of the NYPD and NYC, pursuant to their authority as employees, servants, and agents of the NYPD within the scope of employment and incidental to their otherwise lawful duties and functions as employees, servants, agents, and police officers.

10. NYC was responsible for the hiring, training, supervision, discipline, retention, and promotion of the police officers, sergeants, and/or employees of the NYPD. They are being sued both in their individual and official capacity.

FACTS

11. The incident occurred on the early morning hours of October 28, 2013 at approximately 12:30 am in the intersection of Canal Street and Orchard Avenue in New York County.

12. Prior to this time, Mr. Woldt and his business associate had finished setting up a “pop-up” restaurant at a holiday market being held on 34th Street in Herald Square at approximately 11:00 pm on October 27, 2013 and traveled downtown to a restaurant and bar called Forget Me Not on Vision Street, one block from the intersection of Canal Street and Orchard Avenue, to discuss the opening of the pop-up restaurant the next day.

13. Mr. Woldt and his business associate left the bar at approximately 12:30 am on October 28, 2013.

14. At that time, his business associate proceeded to take one or two steps from the sidewalk onto the roadway to hail a taxi. His business associate was not obstructing any vehicular traffic while hailing the cab.

15. At that time, a police vehicle driven by Officer G. Mejia (Shield # 30139) and his partner Officer B. Jagdeo (Shield # 11335) of the Seventh Precinct pulled up. One of the police officer rolled down the window and the officer said “get the fuck out.”

16. The officers pulled the cab over, and without the requisite level of probable cause, threw Mr. Woldt’s business associate to the ground and beat him about the head, face, and body.

17. As his business associate was forcefully taken to the ground, a second police vehicle driven by Sergeant G. Faljean (Tax # 930122) and Officer L. Prehn (Shield # 4778) pulled up to the scene.

18. One of the officers from the second police vehicle got on top of Mr. Woldt’s business associate and proceeds to punch him about the face, head, upper body, wrist, and shoulder.

19. During this time, Mr. Woldt, who was observing the incident from approximately five feet away, was directed to back up by an officer who displayed a Taser in his hand. It was at this show of authority that Mr. Woldt was detained and did not feel that he could leave the scene and go about his business.

20. Though Mr. Woldt complied with the officer's orders and backed up to approximately ten feet away, he clearly saw the officers use their Taser guns on his business associate seven or eight times.

21. As his business associate is being tased, he is lying on his stomach, his head pressed against the concrete road, his hands behind his back, and the weight of four officers bearing down on him. He in no way posed a threat to any officer or others. His business associate repeatedly screamed "stop, what are you doing, why are you doing this. You have no reason to do this."

22. As Mr. Woldt hears his business associate screaming in pain, Mr. Woldt begins to scream "what are you all doing, you guys can't do that, stop."

23. At this time, Mr. Woldt did not move or in any way interfere with the officers' assault on his business associate. Nonetheless, an officer again threatened him with a Taser.

24. At that time, Mr. Woldt attempted to invoke his First Amendment right to freedom of speech and freedom of expression by filming government agents, here police officers, engaged in their duties and performing their responsibilities in a public place. As Mr. Woldt took out his cell-phone to videotape the officers assault on his business associate, the officers conspired together to cover up the assault and retaliate against Mr. Woldt by ordering his arrest.

25. When Mr. Woldt was arrested, he was not physical or constructively interfering with the actions taken by the officers against his business associate.

26. Without the requisite degree of suspicion, Mr. Woldt was handcuffed and searched.

27. The officers removed from Mr. Woldt's pockets his wallet and a work pocket knife.

28. The pocket knife was a model CRKT "Cascade Lockback." The blade has a bias towards the closed position and would not open under a reasonable amount of centrifugal force from the lock bar that holds the blade in the closed position. It was reasonably apparent from both visual inspection as well as physical manipulation, that the knife did not have a blade which released from the handle or sheath thereof by the force of gravity or by application of natural centrifugal force which, when released, locked into place by means of a button, spring, lever or other device in violation of New York Penal §265.00(5).

29. As Mr. Woldt is being handcuffed, he witnessed the officers continue to taser, punch, and kick his business associate about the head, upper body, wrist, and shoulders. After witnessing the assault on his business associate and after having been threatened twice with a Taser, Mr. Woldt feared for his own safety.

30. Mr. Woldt was taken to the Seventh precinct and held there until approximately 7 am on October 28, 2013.

31. Mr. Woldt was then taken to Central Booking and brought before a judge at approximately 4 pm on October 28, 2013 and released on their own recognizance.

32. Mr. Woldt returned to Court on six separate occasions: December 17, 2013, February 6, 2014, March 24, 2014, May 6, 2014, June 14, 2014, and July 24, 2014.

33. Mr. Woldt accepted an Adjournment in Contemplation of Dismissal on July 24, 2014. His case was dismissed and sealed on January 23, 2015.

34. As a result of his unlawful detention, imprisonment, and arrest, Mr. Woldt incurred attorney's fees in the amount of $2,500.00.

35. As a result of his unlawful detention, imprisonment, and arrest, Mr. Woldt incurred foreseeable but unquantifiable economic loss from missed days of work as a small business proprietor.

36. As a result of his unlawful detention, imprisonment, and arrest, Mr. Woldt experienced, and continues to experience, humiliation, embarrassment, anxiety, and loss of sleep.

37. On or about December 31, 2013 and within ninety (90) days of the incident, a Notice of Claim was served upon NYC on behalf of Mr. Woldt.

38. At least thirty (30) days have elapsed since said demand and/or claim upon which this action is in part predicated was presented to NYC for adjustment and NYC has neglected and/or refused to adjust and/or make payment.

39. This action is commenced within one (1) year and ninety (90) days of the occurrence herein.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF: DEPRIVATION OF FEDERAL CIVIL RIGHTS

40. Mr. Woldt repeats and reiterates the allegations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs with the same force and effect as though fully stated herein.

41. All of the aforementioned acts of Defendants, their agents, servants, and employees were carried out under color of state law.

42. All of the aforementioned acts deprived Mr. Woldt of the rights, privileges, and immunities guaranteed citizens of the United States by the First, Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States and in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

43. The acts complained of were carried out by the aforementioned individual Defendants in their capacities as police officers, with the entire actual and/or apparent authority attendant thereto.

44. The acts complained of were carried out by the aforementioned individual Defendants in their capacities as police officers, pursuant to the customs, usages, practices, procedures, and rules of NYC and the NYPD, all under the supervision of ranking officers of said department.

45. Defendants, collectively and individually, while acting under color of state law, engaged in conduct which constituted a custom, usage, practice, procedure, or rule of his/her respective municipality/authority, which is forbidden by the Constitution of the United States.

46. By these actions, these Defendants have deprived Mr. Woldt of rights secured by the Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution, in violation of 42 U.S.C. §1983; and by the laws and Constitution of the State of New York, for which the Defendants are individually and jointly liable.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF:
FALSE ARREST

47. Mr. Woldt repeats and reiterates the allegations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs with the same force and effect as though fully stated herein.

48. As a result of Defendants' aforementioned conduct, Mr. Woldt was subject to an illegal, improper, and false seizure and arrest by the Defendants and taken into custody and caused to be falsely imprisoned, detained, confined, incarcerated, and prosecuted by the Defendants in criminal proceedings, without any probable cause, privilege, or consent.

49. As a result of his false arrest, Mr. Woldt was subjected to humiliation, mental anguish, ridicule, and disgrace and was deprived of his liberty. Mr. Woldt was discredited in the minds of many members of the community.

50. All of the aforementioned acts of the Defendants constituted false arrest under the laws of the State of New York and the Defendants are liable for said damage.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF: FALSE IMPRISONMENT

51. Mr. Woldt repeats and reiterates the allegations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs with the same force and effect as though fully stated herein.

52. As a result of his false imprisonment, Mr. Woldt was subjected to humiliation, ridicule, mental anguish and disgrace and was deprived of his liberty. Mr. Woldt was discredited in the minds of many members of the community.

53. All of the aforementioned acts of the Defendants constituted false imprisonment under the law of the State of New York and the Defendants are liable said damage.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF: INTENTIONAL INFLICTION OF EMOTIONAL DISTRESS

54. Mr. Woldt repeats and reiterates the allegations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs with the same force and effect as though fully stated herein.

55. Defendant police officers engaged in extreme and outrageous conduct beyond all possible bounds of decency when they were physically aggressive, harassed and threatened Mr. Woldt.

56. Defendants' extreme and outrageous conduct was intended to inflict severe distress upon Mr. Woldt.

57. The Defendant officers' outrageous conduct did inflict severe distress upon Mr. Woldt, which caused him to suffer anxiety and mental anguish.

58. All of the aforementioned acts of the Defendants constituted intentional infliction of emotional distress under the law of the State of New York and the Defendants are liable for said damage.

FIFTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF:
FAILURE TO INVESTIGATE

59. Mr. Woldt repeats and reiterates the allegations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs with the same force and effect as though fully stated herein.

60. All of the aforementioned acts of Defendants, their agents, servants, and employees constituted a complete failure to investigate whether Mr. Woldt, had any involvement whatsoever in the case, or whether, as with what actually happened, he was an innocent bystander, when the defendant Police Officers arrested him.

61. In the absence of any exigent circumstances, and absence of any overt acts of criminality permitting probable cause for arrest, the defendant Police Officers' complete failure to investigate fell far short of a complete investigation where the law enforcement officers would not have been unduly hampered if they had waited to obtain more facts before seeking to arrest Mr. Woldt, and where a minimal further investigation would have exonerated him.

62. As a result of the foregoing, Mr. Woldt was deprived of his liberty, endured great humiliation, anguish, costs and expenses and was otherwise damaged and injured.

SIXTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF:
FAILURE TO INTERVENE
UNDER FOURTH AMENDMENT – 42 U.S.C. § 1983

63. Mr. Woldt repeats and reiterates the allegations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs with the same force and effect as though fully stated herein.

64. Members of the NYPD have an affirmative duty to assess the constitutionality of interactions between their fellow members of service and civilians and to intervene where they observe another member of the police department employing unjustified and excessive force against a civilian or falsely arresting a civilian.

65. The defendant officers were present near intersection of Canal Street and Orchard Avenue in the City of New York and County of New York and in the vicinity of Mr. Woldt's arrest and witnessed other officers, inter alia,

- a. Search Mr. Woldt without cause;
- b. Unlawfully detaining him;
- c. Falsely arrest him,

d. Use unlawful force against him, including placing handcuffs that were excruciatingly tight.

66. The search of Mr. Woldt's person was clearly made without probable cause, reasonable suspicion, or any other legal justification, yet defendants failed to take any action or make any effort to intervene, halt or protect Mr. Woldt from the illegal search.

67. Defendants' violated Mr. Woldt's constitutional rights by failing to intervene in the illegal search of him, his arrest or Defendants' clearly unconstitutional use of force including handcuffing that resulted in injury to his wrists and damages.

68. All of the aforementioned acts of Defendants constituted a violation of Mr. Woldt's civil rights provided to him under the United States Constitution and 42 U.S.C. § 1983, 1985, and 1988.

SEVENTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF:
MUNICIPAL LIABILITY

69. Mr. Woldt repeats and reiterates the allegations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs with the same force and effect as though fully stated herein.

70. The acts complained of herein were carried out by the Defendant officers in their capacities as police officers, employees and officials pursuant to the customs, policies, usages, practices, procedures, and rules of NYC and the NYPD, all under the supervision of ranking officers of said departments.

71. Prior to October 28, 2013, NYC and NYPD developed and maintained policies or customs exhibiting deliberate indifference to the Constitutional rights of persons in NYC, which caused the violation of Mr. Woldt's rights.

72. It was the policy and/or custom of NYC and NYPD to inadequately and improperly train and supervise its police officers, including the defendant officers, thereby failing to adequately discourage further constitutional violations on the part of its police officers.

73. It was the policy and/or custom of NYC and NYPD to inadequately and improperly investigate complaints of misconduct against police officers filed by persons in police custody, and acts of misconduct were instead tolerated by NYC, including, but not limited to the following incidents: assault and battery, harassment, negligence, intentional infliction of emotional distress and deliberate indifference to medical needs.

74. The foregoing customs, policies, usages, practices, procedures, and rule of NYC and the NYPD constituted deliberate indifference to the safety, well-being, and constitutional rights of Mr. Woldt.

75. The foregoing customs, policies, usages, practices, procedures, and rule of NYC and the NYPD were the proximate cause of the constitutional violations suffered by Mr. Woldt as alleged herein.

76. The foregoing customs, policies, usages, practices, procedures, and rule of NYC and the NYPD were the moving force behind the constitutional violations suffered by Mr. Woldt as alleged herein.

77. As a result of the above described policies and customs, police officers of NYPD, including the defendant officers, believed that their actions would not be monitored by supervisory officers and that their own misconduct would not be investigated or sanctioned, but instead would be tolerated.

78. Defendants, collectively and individually, while acting under color of state law, were directly and actively involved in violating the constitutional rights of Mr. Woldt.

79. Defendants, collectively and individually, while acting under color of state law, acquiesced in a pattern of unconstitutional conduct by subordinate officers and were directly responsible for the violation of Mr. Woldt' constitutional rights.

80. Defendants NYC, as municipal policymakers in the training and supervision of Defendant police officers/employees, have pursued a policy and custom of deliberate indifference to the rights of persons in their domain who suffer violations of their freedom from deprivation of Liberty without Due process of law in violation of the First, Fourth, Fifth, Eighth, and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States and 42 U.S.C. § 1983, and the Constitution and laws of the State of New York.

81. All of the foregoing acts by Defendants deprived Mr. Woldt of federally protected rights, including, but not limited to, the right:

- a. To have the freedom of speech and expression including the right to film government agents including police officers engaged in their duties and performing their responsibilities in a public place;
- b. Not to be deprived of liberty without due process of law;

- c. To be free from unreasonable search and seizure under the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution;
- d. To be protected against violations of their civil and constitutional rights;
- e. Not to have cruel and unusual punishment imposed upon them; and
- f. To receive equal protection under the law.

EIGHTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF:
CONSPIRACY TO INTERFERE WITH CIVIL RIGHTS
UNDER 42 U.S.C. § 1983, 1985, 1986

82. Mr. Woldt repeats and reiterates the allegations set forth in the foregoing paragraphs with the same force and effect as though fully stated herein.

83. All the defendants, acting with each other individually and on behalf of and under the auspices and control of the City, and under color of law, conspired to injure Mr. Woldt in his person and property and deprive Mr. Woldt of their First, Fourth, Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment rights by effectuating his arrest when Mr. Woldt attempted to invoke his First Amendment freedom of speech and freedom of expression to film government agents including police officers engaged in their duties and performing their responsibilities in a public place. The defendants jointly caused such deprivation of rights by acting in concert to disseminate false information concerning Mr. Woldt and by disseminating false information that lacked any reasonable basis or probable cause to support it that Mr. Woldt committed a crime, and/or to charge them with a crime, and/or to arrest them.

84. The defendants further deprived Mr. Woldt of his due process rights specifically by conspiring to and assisting in the arrest of him without probable cause and participating in the prosecution him; by denying him of his First, Fourth, Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment rights via a conspiracy to deprive him of his liberty and taking his property including wallet and work knife without due process and compensation; conspiring together to cover up the misconduct they committed; and preventing Mr. Woldt from being compensated for their wrongful arrest, for the loss of his constitutional rights, the loss of his wages, and for the emotional harm he incurred.

85. The aforesaid actions by the defendant police officers were done pursuant to an official municipal policy or custom of the city and state, which policy involved the indiscriminate detention, interrogation, intimidation, denial of medical attention, excessive force and prosecution of individuals who were not engaged in criminal conduct, and for the purpose of thwarting the fair administration of justice.

83. The defendants' failure to stop these wrongful acts and actions constitutes a breach of their duty to do so under 42 U.S.C. § 1986.

86. The defendants knew or should have known that the misconduct and false and fabricated accusations and/or charges against Mr. Woldt was violative of his First, Fourth, Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment rights to due process and equal protection, and were tantamount to unequal protection under the law, in violation of Mr. Woldt' fundamental rights under the Constitution.

87. Said defendants had the power to prevent the continued due process violations against Mr. Woldt, yet had failed to prevent the dissemination of false information and/or to dismiss the fabricated accusations and charges against Mr. Woldt, and/or to protect Mr. Woldt from the unwarranted and potential harm and penalties of said charges.

88. Defendants herein, their agents, servants and employees, motivated in part by racial and/or ethnic animus, conspired to deprive Mr. Woldt of his federal civil and constitutional rights, in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1985 and the laws and Constitution of the State of New York

89. All of the aforementioned acts of Defendants constituted a violation of Mr. Woldt' civil rights provided to him under the United States Constitution and 42 U.S.C. § 1983, 1985, and 1986 and the laws and Constitution of the State of New York.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Mr. Woldt demands judgment against the Defendants as follows:

1. A monetary sum that exceeds the jurisdictional limits of all lower courts that might otherwise have jurisdiction herein;
2. The costs and disbursements of this action; and
3. Such other and further relief as this Court deems just and proper.
